Inmagic Momentum Continues into 2008 on the Heels of Investment and Product Advancements

Accelerating product development and growing customer base lay foundation for next generation knowledge management (Woburn, MA – April 7, 2008) – Inmagic, Inc. announced today that it continues to gain momentum in 2008 following a successful and historic 2007. The new year is proving to be productive as Inmagic is experiencing strong demand for its information and knowledge management products.

The company reached numerous milestones recently including a new release of Inmagic® Presto with powerful new end-user configuration, alerting, RSS support and more; delivery of version 11 of DB/TextWorks® and WebPublisher PRO; closing its 250th Inmagic® Genie customer and an expanded executive team. In late 2007 the company obtained a sizeable investment from Edison Venture Fund to accelerate product development, enhance the Inmagic product portfolio and extend the reach of the Inmagic brand.

“These are all important milestones for the company, and building blocks to grow and expand our offerings in the future,” said Paul J. Puzanghera, President and CEO at Inmagic. “We are leveraging our 25 years of experience in the information and knowledge management market to make our products even more technically advanced and strategic for our substantial and growing customer base.”

Inmagic customers range from large multinational corporations to smaller specialized museums and social action committees, including organizations such as Newsweek, NASA and The Lincoln Center. Customers are largely centered in information-rich vertical markets where collaboration, research and planning are heavily emphasized, such as health, law, financial services and government, including:

- 60 of the Fortune Top 100
- 18 of the top 20 pharmaceutical companies
- 6 of the top 10 biotechnology companies
- 87 of the top 100 US legal firms
- 7 of the top 10 financial services

Inmagic's knowledge management solutions are uniquely capable of organizing diverse sets of information assets enabling organizations to more easily access and use these assets, and allowing users to collaborate and collectively address business and organizational problems. Inmagic software is paving the way for next generation knowledge management and high-quality information ecosystems for today's cutting-edge organizations.

As Inmagic enters a momentous time in its company history, further exciting developments will be announced to help organizations understand more about Inmagic's bold new directions and how to benefit from these new opportunities. Over the coming months, Inmagic will expand the scope of its products and offerings by adding new collaborative and social media capabilities and services to its traditional library management and knowledge publishing offerings.
